Passage 2

Having graduated from college, I succeeded in finding a job at Toyota. My first workday was not as busy as I had expected, but it taught me a lot. In actual fact, it will benefit me for my whole life.

When I was enrolled in the financial department, I was assigned by the chief to check some data in the account books with the invoices. I was glad at first and thought, "It's a piece of cake for a graduate majoring in accounting." It didn't take me long before I finished the job. Expecting to be praised, I went to the chief.

Unexpectedly, he asked me to check all the data again with care, without stopping doing his own work. I felt a little disappointed. Time was passing slowly when I felt hungry. The chief came to me and said, "Put your work aside, its time for lunch now." I relaxed, and went to the dining hall.

I went on with my assignment immediately after I came back. I found some mistakes that I hadn't noticed the first time. At this moment the chief approached me and said, "Are there any errors? Do you think it's necessary to repeat the whole cycle?" I nodded with embarrassment, and told him that I'd like to do it a third time. The chief was satisfied when I handed the account books to him.

Now he's retired, and I have taken over his post. I attribute my success to the experience of my first workday at Toyota. It taught me that everything must be handled with care. There is no trifling matter in the financial department.

26. The author was glad about the assignment at first because he thought _____.
- A. the job could benefit him for the whole life
 B. he had found an easy job at Toyota
 C. the job was quite easy for him
 D. he was most suitable for the job
27. The author implied that the chief turned out to be _____.
- A. strict                      B. rude                      C. humorous                      D. aggressive
28. According to the passage, "to repeat the whole cycle" means _____.
- A. to make a circle round the errors
 B. to check all the data again with care
 C. to find more mistakes than the first time
 D. to hand in the account books to the chief
29. Which of the following statements is NOT true according to the passage?
- A. The author checked all the data three times.
 B. The author ate his lunch in the dining hall of the company.
 C. In the end, the chief was still dissatisfied with the author's work.
 D. The author discovered some mistakes which he had not found the first time.
30. From the experience of his first workday, the author learned _____.
- A. how to find a favorite job
 B. how to check the account books
 C. how to help the chief of the department
 D. how to deal with everything with care

Part III. Cloze (15 points)

Directions: There are 15 blanks in the following passage. For each blank, there are four choices marked A, B, C and D. Choose the best one that best fits into the passage and mark the corresponding letter on the Answer Sheet with a single line through the center.

My husband and I were traveling down to London for the Thanksgiving week with our family. ___31___ we were sitting in the first two seats in the first row of first class waiting for the plane to take off, I ___32___ heard one of the flight attendants ___33___ others that there was a couple sitting in the back of the plane ___34___ had just been married the previous day and were heading off on their honeymoon. They had ___35___ their flight eight months in ___36___. But, owing to some schedule changes, had not been able to get ___37___ together, and no one else on the plane was ___38___ to move and the bride was in tears.

I turned to my husband and told him what I heard. We ___39___ agreed and I called the flight attendant over to tell her that we'd be happy to give ___40___ our seats to this couple. The flight attendant seemed ___41___ and said, "Really? Are you sure?" We said, "Absolutely!"
